And he now Sees the Great Pilot Face to Face.

DEATH OF LORD ALFRED TENNYSON

At an Early Hour Yesterday Morning. His Features Bear a Look of Absolute Peace—His Funeral will be a Public One, and He will be Buried in Westminster Abbey—Sketch of the Poet and Some Familiar Selections from his Works.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—Tennyson died at 1:35 a. m.

Lord Tennyson spoke to his wife about an hour before he died, and his words to her were the last he uttered. Lady Tennyson bent over her dying husband and he whispered a few words to her. His features in death bear a look of absolute peace. The Tennysons have no family burial ground and it is expected that Lord Tennyson's remains will be interred in Westminster Abbey. His funeral will be a public one.

LORD ALFRED TENNYSON.

Alfred Tennyson was the son of a Lincolnshire clergyman and was born August 6, 1809. He was educated at Trinity college, Cambridge, and at the age of 21 published a volume of poems. It met with rather severe treatment from one or more reviews. Four years later he met with a similar fate. For ten years after this he ceased to publish. He was not, however, forgotten. During the interval there had been growing in the minds of many a sense of his merits. In 1842 there appeared a reprint of the most of his pieces. Without external aid these volumes found favor with the public, and in three years ran through as many editions. From that on he grew in popular favor until he was designated poet laureate by Queen Victoria in 1850.

The prevailing characteristic of his style is a quaint and quiet elegance, and of his mind a gentle melancholy, with now and then touches of strong dramatic power, the whole colored by the peculiar scenery of that part of England, where he has so long resided. Another characteristic of Lord Tennyson's style is his beautiful simplicity. In 1884 he created a baronet with the title of Lord Tennyson.

Of his prominent works the intelligent reader is already familiar with, and it will only require a few quotations to give an idea of his style and strength as a poet. This extract from "In Memoriam," written on the death of a son of the historian Hallam is peculiarly appropriate:

To sleep I give my powers away: My will is bondsman to the dark; I sit within a helmetless bark, And with my heart I muse and say:

O heart, how fares it with thee now, That thou shouldst fall from thy desire, Who scarcely darrest to inquire, "What it is makes me beat so low?"

Something it is which thou hast lost, Some pleasure from thine early years, Break, thou deep vase of chilling tears, That grief hath shaken into frost!

"Locksley Hall" is considered by his admirers a well told story in verse, and these lines will readily recall the poem:

Cursed be the youth wants that sin against the strength of youth! Cursed be the social lies that warp us from the living truth!

Cursed be the sickly forms that err from honest Nature's rule! Cursed be the gold that glides the straiten'd forehead of the fool!

And another couplet that is very familiar, and which reads as follows: "T'was the shadows of the globe we sweep into the younger day; Better fifty years of Europe than a cycle of Cathay."

"Break, Break, Break" contains lines suggestive of the mournful event that has overtaken the Tennyson household:

And the stately ships go on To their haven under the hill; But O for the touch of a vanished hand, And the sound of a voice that is still!

Break, break, break, At the foot of thy crags, O sea! But the tender grace of a day that is dead, Will never come back to me.

And more than all is "Crossing the Bar:"

Sunset and evening star, And one clear call for me! And may there be no moaning of the bar When I lay out to sea!

But such a tide of moving sounds, Too full for sound and foam, When that which drew from out the boundless deep Turns again home,

Twilight and evening bells, And after that the dark! And may there be no sadness of farewells When I embark;

For though from out our bourne of Time and Place The flood may bear me far, I hope to see my Pilot face to face When I have crossed the bar.

The Hoosier Poet's Tribute.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 6.—James Whitcomb Riley contributed to the Indianapolis News to-day the following tribute to Tennyson:

We of the new world clasp hands with the old In new fervor and with firmer hold, And nobler fellowship, O Mastering, with the finger-tip Of Death laid thus on thy melodious lip.

All ages, Thou hast honored with Thine art, And ages, yet unborn Thou wilt be part, Of all songs pure and true, Thine now, the universal homage due From old and new world—aye, and still the new. JAMES WHITCOMB RILEY.

Carnegie's Gift to Ayr.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—A dispatch from Ayr, Scotland, states that Mrs. Andrew Carnegie has laid the memorial stone of the public library, donated by Mr. Andrew Carnegie, upon the occasion of his being presented with the freedom of the burgh.

The Chronicle in an article this morning in regard to Mr. Andrew Carnegie's gift to Ayr, asks why Ayr does not provide its own library, instead of depending on millionaires. Carnegie would be better employed in bestowing his surplus wealth on his American employees. It requires plenty of confidence on the part of the man who passively consented to the bloodshed at Homestead, to pose as a benefactor of Scotland and a eulogist of her greatest poet.

The Hamburg Senate's Crime.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—The Berlin correspondent of the Chronicle says: The Hamburg senate has not yet replied to the grave charge made against it by Mr. Charles H. Burke, the United States vice consul at Hamburg, of issuing clean bills of health to steamers bound for American ports after the city had officially been declared to be infected with cholera.

At a meeting of the burghers assembly, Dr. Gieschen declared that if Mr. Burke's charge was true the conduct of the senate must be regarded as a positive crime.

Board of Trade Men Fight.

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—Two men widely known in commercial and political circles, ex-Congressman R. W. Dunham, of Chicago, and his former partner, Alex. Young, of Milwaukee, came to blows in the board of trade corridor today. According to Mr. Dunham's statement there has been rather bad feelings between the men for some little time. This morning just before the opening of the board the two met on the second floor of the board of trade building and angry words passed between them. Young aimed a blow with his cane at Dunham's head. Dunham dodged. Before Young had time to strike again Dunham was upon him and the two men clinched. A police officer who was standing near arrested Young. He walked him to the Harrison street station followed by Dunham. Mr. Dunham declined to make any explanation saying it was simply a personal disagreement. Mr. Young was as mysteriously silent as Mr. Dunham.

A Dangerous Freight Wreck.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 6.—A special to the Star from Council Grove, Kan., says: A freight train on the Missouri Pacific railroad met with a bad accident about sixty miles west of this place this morning, caused by the train going through a burning bridge. The engineer, C. T. Peller, a son of United States Senator Peller, and Clint Howard, fireman, were both instantly killed. Charles Hart, another fireman, was also badly injured. After the accident happened the wreck took fire, burning up thirteen cars of grain.

All Hands Lost.

PORT HURON, Mich., Oct. 6.—The tug Howard returned to Sand Beach at noon and reported finding the steam barge, Nashua, drifting upside down about eight miles off Bayfield, a small village twelve miles south of Goderich. There was a large hole in the bottom of the hull, indicating that the boiler and engine had gone to the bottom. No bodies or floating wreckage was found. It is probable all hands were lost, as if any had reached shore they would undoubtedly have been heard from before now.

A Negro's Shocking Crime.

RALEIGH, N. C., Oct. 6.—News has been received here to-day of a shocking crime in Lenore county. A negro farm hand named Wakefield attacked his wife and two negroes, and shot and cut all three. The injuries are all pronounced fatal. Wakefield was captured and is now in jail.

Dead Miners Found.

IRONWOOD, MICH., Oct. 6.—The bodies of three more of the men entombed in the Norrie mine were recovered early yesterday morning. They have been identified as Frank Donsham, John Bloomquist and Herman Erickson. Two more lie buried under the debris, the search for which still goes on.

Two Freecoers Fall to Death.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 6.—Two freecoers, named Alexander Knocks and William Otto, at work this morning on the fourth story of Newell's hotel, on Fifth avenue, lost their balance and fell from the scaffold to the cellar, a distance of about seventy feet. Both men were fatally hurt.

Mantell Must Pay.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Justice Beach, of the supreme court, has decided that Robert B. Mantell, the actor, must pay his wife $100 a week and $300 counsel fees pending her suit for absolute divorce, because of his alleged intimacy with his leading lady, Charlotte Behrens.

Mrs. Paron Stevens in Trouble.

NEWPORT, R. I., Oct. 6.—A local grocer sent a sheriff to the residence of Mrs. Paron Stevens last night and seized her horses, and carriages for debt. The seized goods were removed to a livery stable.

What Did They Take?

NEW YORK WORLD. Senator Faulkner, of West Virginia, with Chairman Chilton, of the West Virginia state Democratic committee, Secretary Ohley and National Committeeman John Sheridan spent several minutes with Mr. Cleveland and came out smiling.

Experience of an Ex-Champion.

Athletes and men who take ordinary outdoor exercise, such as walking, running, bicycle riding, jumping, swimming, tennis, etc., are often the subjects of acute troubles. The experience of an ex-champion walker will be of interest to all who are afflicted. Harry Brooks writes:

"No. 324 East 19th St., New York, April 2, 1888.—Numerous statements relative to the merits of different plasters having been brought to my attention, I take this opportunity to state that I have used ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS for over twenty years, and prefer them to any other kind. I would furthermore state that I was very sick with catarrh of the kidneys, and attribute my recovery entirely to ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS."

A Cure for Cholera.

There is no use of any one suffering with the cholera when Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy can be procured. It will give relief in a few minutes and cure in a short time. I have tried it and know.—W. H. Clinton, Helmetta, N. J. The epidemic at Helmetta was at first believed to be cholera, but subsequent investigation proved it to be a violent form of dysentery, almost as dangerous as cholera. This remedy was used there with great success.

Lambs first printed poems came out when he was 22 years old.

I had catarrh of the head and throat for five years. I used Ely's Cream Balm, and from the first application I was relieved. The sense of smell, which had been lost, was restored after using one bottle. I have found the Balm the only satisfactory remedy for catarrh, and it has effected a cure in my case.—H. L. Meyer, Waverly, N. Y.

A BLACK BRUTE

Is Taken From the Officers and Lynched. He Confesses His Crime.

NASHVILLE, TENN., Oct. 5.—A lynching occurred at Montpelier, this county, last night. Saturday night Alex Bell, colored, attempted an assault upon the person of Miss Sallie Jones. The lady had retired with her mother and they were awakened by finding the black brute in bed with them. The screams of the women attracted the neighbors, and upon their entering the room Bell made his escape through a back door. On Sunday he was arrested and made his escape, but was shot. He was again arrested on Monday. Deputy Sheriff Kinard started with Bell to jail, but before going a great way was confronted by a mob of a hundred citizens, who hung Bell to a limb and his body was riddled with bullets. He finally confessed his crime and did not murmur while being executed. Miss Jones is a highly respectable young lady. Fortunately she is not hurt.
